This is to certify that as our company's student intern, Sewon Lee applied statistical reasoning and data analysis to projects in the space industry with exceptional dedication. His responsibilities included developing analytic infographic models to visualize satellite data, producing technical video content to communicate research findings, and conducting independent research that resulted in report summaries on aerospace developments used by our team. We especially appreciate the ways in which Sewon introduced learnings and tools from his previous college-level studies in data visualization, which enhanced the rigor and clarity of our outputs and left a lasting impact on our workflow.

Throughout his internship, Sewon excelled in deriving structure and patterns from raw datasets and translating findings into effective data visualizations and precise analytical reports that our team could depend on. He persisted through complex analytical challenges, testing multiple approaches until achieving reliable solutions. His accuracy, rigor, and clarity in data communication made his work a trusted part of our projects. Just as important, he carried himself with kindness, professionalism, and intellectual curiosity, often asking insightful questions and seeking deeper context beyond his assignments. For a high school student, Sewon displayed an unusual level of maturity and independence, qualities that enriched both his work and his collaboration with our team. He was a joy to work with and earned the respect of our team. We very much look forward to working with Sewon again in the future and wish him success in all his future endeavors.
